

General Product Safety Regulation (GPSR)

The new EU General Product Safety Regulation (GPSR), applicable from 13 December 2024, establishes a comprehensive legal framework for consumer product safety.

The GPSR aims to protect consumers by creating a harmonised framework through the EU Product Safety Regulation to ensure that products placed on the market are safe to use and do not pose risks to health or safety. It lays down obligations requiring responsible behaviour by businesses involved in the marketing of products, which facilitates the free movement of safe products on the EU market.
